Extra-Curricular Interests

Outside of work I keep myself busy with various different activities throughout the week. I attend mix martial arts classes and play football with my friends to stay active. I also volunteer with a charity called Swat youth, where as a trustee I help to manage and host weekly youth clubs to create a safe space for teens where we educate them about topics such as internet safety and substance abuse whilst allowing them to have fun playing games like pool, table tennis and air hockey.

I also recently returned from a year abroad in India where I volunteered with an organisation that goes from village to village in poverty-stricken rural areas and host welfare, education and medical camps for the villagers and their children helping to provide opportunities where absolutely none are available. This year away gave me invaluable life lessons and experiences that I have bought back with me and am ready to apply in my life and career.
